“Cargo Theft” is a billion dollar a year business every year. Come out and learn how to prevent hi-jackings, detect hi-jacked loads and then what to do with that hi-jacked load after you have recovered it. Learn from case studies and law enforcement officials that specialize in cargo theft. Not only does cargo theft effect the insurance industry but it also effects the private consumer. This conference will allow law enforcement and private sector speakers to explain national strategies, patterns and practices of cargo thieves with recent case studies explaining how to combat cargo theft.

Instructors

The instructors will be current leaders in the “Cargo Theft” industry in addition to law enforcement professionals. Our instructors will be from the insurance industry, state police agencies, local police agencies and loss prevention managers. These instructors will not only discuss case studies but the “Do’s and Don’ts” of Cargo Theft. Private industry instructors will be discussing state of the art technology that will be deployed by 2017. U.S. DOT DIAP instructors will be discussing “Commercial Motor Vehicle Rapid Assessment” and what to do with those indicators. Additionally representatives from EPIC (El Paso Intelligence Center) and DEA HQ will be discussing both fusion center intelligence accessible by telephone on the vehicle stop and an internet based intelligence driven de-confliction system available to you from your in car computer, the computer at your office or by your smart phone. These are the tools needed to combat this “Billion Dollar” criminal enterprise.
